

Statement on responsible communication

At Corbion, we exist to champion preservation in all its forms, preserving food and food production, health, and our planet. Our aim is not to maintain the status quo, but rather to find new and better ways of operating in a changing environment – to empower one another, and the world, to do more with less.

Communicating responsibly and rooting our messages in unbiased, scientific information is essential to promoting awareness among our stakeholders and encouraging them to share in this ambition. We believe that if we help our customers consider the longer-term, multi-faceted benefits offered by more sustainable solutions, they will be inspired to make choices that reduce negative impacts associated with their products.

This approach shapes the messages we convey, regardless of the medium we use to communicate, including by digital media, commercial brochures, videos, websites, social networks, exhibition materials and displays, webinars, conference speeches, press releases, corporate statements or other formats.

In all our communications, we strive to:

- ▶ Provide clear and fair information in a way that is easy to understand.
- ▶ Ensure that all claims are specific, accurate, relevant, truthful and substantiated by methods and data that adhere to international standards and, when feasible, provided or verified by independent third parties.
- ▶ Reflect our current knowledge/understanding based on the latest evidence.
- ▶ Refrain from making misleading comparisons with other ingredients.
- ▶ Avoid playing upon unsubstantiated fears on the part of consumers or exploiting hypothetical negative claims.
- ▶ Remain open in the way we cooperate within our industries and share knowledge with our partners, while honoring trade secrets of strategic importance to our company.
