

Statement on modern slavery

Corbion

Corbion is a global leader in sustainable food-ingredient solutions focused on advancing natural preservation and nutrition with science and innovation. By harnessing deep expertise in fermentation and application development, we empower customers to create safe, sustainable, and longer-lasting food products. We preserve what matters.

At Corbion, we are committed to ethical business practices and upholding human rights across our own operations and supply chain. We recognize the importance of combating modern slavery and human trafficking, and we are dedicated to ensuring that our business activities promote decent work and do not contribute to or perpetuate labor violations.

Company policy:

1. Ethical standards: Corbion operates under the principle of respecting the fundamental rights and freedoms of all individuals. We condemn all forms of modern slavery, including forced labor, human trafficking, and exploitation, and we are committed to preventing such practices in our business operations and supply chains. Our commitment is reflected in our Human Rights Policy, Business Code of Conduct and Supplier Code.

2. Supplier engagement: We engage with our suppliers and business partners to promote ethical practices. We expect our suppliers to uphold the same ethical standards and to refrain from engaging in any activities that involve modern slavery or human trafficking.

3. Due diligence: Corbion conducts due diligence to assess the risk of modern slavery and human trafficking within our supply chains. We believe it is our responsibility to identify and address any potential risks and to work with our suppliers to implement appropriate measures to mitigate these risks. See our annual report and human rights policy for details on our human rights due diligence process.

4. Reporting mechanisms: Corbion maintains open channels of communication for employees, suppliers, and other stakeholders to report any concerns or suspicions regarding modern slavery practices. We take all reports seriously and investigate them thoroughly, taking appropriate action to address any identified issues.

5. Continuous improvement: We are committed to continuous improvement in our efforts to combat modern slavery and human trafficking. We regularly review and update our policies, procedures, and practices to ensure they remain effective in addressing the evolving risks in our business operations and supply chains.
